Print Perfect Moves into New, State-of-the-Art Facility: Expanded Space Fuels Growth, Efficiency

Chicago, August 28, 2007 -- Print Perfect, one of Chicagoland's leading commercial printing companies, announced today that it has moved its operations into a new, state-of-the-art facility in Batavia, Ill.

Located at 431 N. Raddant Rd., less than two miles away from the company's former headquarters, the new facility is larger, more efficient and more accessible than its previous home. The new space includes cutting-edge equipment and a labor-saving layout, as well as an improved shipping and receiving arrangement that will help the company streamline interdepartmental communications and achieve a more productive workflow. With more room in which to flex its creative muscles, Print Perfect is poised for long-term growth and continued expansion.

"Our new home isn't just a place to do our work," said Frank Babich, president and co-founder of Print Perfect. "Our new home is a place to build our business and strengthen our family of employees, partners and customers. It's a place to grow, collaborate and create, and we are anxious to mine it for fresh inspiration and new opportunities."

Babich and his business partner, Roger Lauger, founded Print Perfect inside a one-car garage in Aurora, Ill., nearly 20 years ago, in 1988. They moved the business to its previous location in 1991 and spent 16 years there, building their full-service commercial printing operation, one job at a time. Today, they have more than 20 employees and an ever-growing stable of satisfied clients.

"I am so pleased to be part of the growth and excitement at Print Perfect," said Donna Schaeffler, sales manager. "We have an amazing team of printing professionals behind us here, and we owe our continued success to their constant energy and incisive vision."

During the course of its impressive move, Print Perfect transported a large fleet of industrial equipment, including a four-color press that weighs over 40,000 pounds. The move was well planned and executed, however, thanks to friends' and employees' tireless effort and support.

"We are really excited about our new facility, and we hope that our clients and our community enjoy it as much as we do," Babich said. "Thanks to them, our future has never looked brighter."
